

Owned by the German Government, the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) provides services in the field of international cooperation for sustainable development. GIZ works on behalf of public and private sector clients in both Germany and overseas to provide tailor-made, cost-efficient and effective solutions. In Thailand, GIZ has a record of more than 60 years and numerous projects have been implemented over time. The main focuses of GIZ Thailand at the present are climate action, cooperation with the private sector and the regional training hub for GIZ. Currently, we are looking for an intern to support the implementation of project activities.

Intern
Project Support and Communications for Clean, Affordable and Secure Energy for Southeast Asia (CASE)

CASE is a regional project, that aims to drive change in the power sector in Southeast Asia (SEA) towards increased ambitions with regards to climate change. It focuses on the four main SEA countries in terms of energy demand – Indonesia, Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam – as well as foresees regional interventions. CASE supports coordination in the SEA power sector, provides technical and policy support and facilitates dialogue and communication around a new energy vision. The project offers ample opportunities for diverse, challenging and exciting opportunities in one of the most important sectors for the environmental and economic future of Thailand and SEA.
